

Real property tax assessment guide

While all government jurisdictions collect taxes on real property, each does so in its unique way. Collection methods and tax due dates, for example, vary from one jurisdiction to the next.

To help you navigate real property taxes in the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and counties in Florida where we operate, we have compiled this list of tax collection & billing offices along with links to property tax assessment pages wherever possible. This information will help you better understand how property taxes work and predict your property tax liability for any given property in that jurisdiction.

Scroll down to view all jurisdictions or skip ahead by clicking one of the jurisdictions below.
